There've been a lot of calls in recent days about bagworm control. Sevin does an acceptable job at two tablespoons per gallon.

Aphids on tomatoes can reduce productiveness. Red aphis are present on many tomatoes at this time. Malathion does a good job.

* * *

Ever tried deep-fried corn-on-cob? A report from he Tennessee Experiment Station says a taste panel rated deep-fried corn as an acceptable item.

Panelists participating in the study preferred raw corn fried in butter-flavored oil.

Here was a surprise: Deep fried corn contained such a low oil content, it can be planned in the diet of people who are calorie conscious.

Ears of corn were cut in half and deep-fried for 10 minutes at 350°F.

The new oat variety, Windsor, in 17 tests from 1965 through 1970 averaged 105 bushels per acre with only 19% lodging.

A limited amount of this seed is available from the Foundation Seed Farm at $5.00 per bushel.

Now's a good time to clean out the strawberries and treat with Dacthal or Tenoran. Either of these chemicals will do a good job of controlling late summer and fall weeds.

* * *

If you plan to mulch the strawberries with small grain straw better put the bales in the field and break the strings. This permits the straw to loosen up. Wet the bales thoroughly and cover with a piece of plastic. Heat and moisture, trapped under the cover, will germinate most of the grain and weed seeds in the straw. Spread the straw over the berries about Christmas time.

* * *

We're moving rapidly into the fall and calves to be kept for wintering as yearling cattle should be treated for grubs. Treat them now with one of the convenient pour-on materials.

* * *

Just last week one caller asked the cause of worms in eggs. This, of course, is a bit unusual. When this occurs, it's an indication that the flock needs to be wormed. Both Piperazine and Phenothiazine will do a good job.

* * *

A good corn crop is only as good as the harvest. Harvest losses can be as great as 27 percent.

Research studies show that when equipment is operating properly, losses need not be greater than 5 percent.

Ear corn can be safely stored at 21 percent moisture.

This is the year that growers should plan to harvest as early as possible. This applies especially to those growers who planted a ' T' or blend variety. You can expect these varieties to lodge and be difficult to pick.

"Put It On . . . Now"

Well managed lawns and pastures help keep our streams the same color as the rainfall -- clear. Besides reducing erosion and stream pollution, grassland adds beauty to our surroundings. Most people recognize the need for fertilization, but many have misconceptions about the time to fertilize.

Spring remains the traditional time for fertilizing grassland pastures, hayland and lawns. Human nature has been slow to change. Actually, fall fertilization of cool season grasses such as fescue, bluegrass, and orchardgrass has many advantages. By applying the major portion of the year's nitrogen, along with other needed fertilizer minerals, in the late summer or early fall, the added nutrients strengthen the grass. Spring nitrogen weakens the plants by stimulating more top growth than the root system can support. Late summer and early fall fertilization of nitrogen stimulates top growth at the time of root growth. Excessive spring nitrogen produces very succulent growth that weakens lawn plants and leaves the stand very susceptible to molds and mildews.

Cattlemen are usually faced with a surplus of spring growth followed by a late summer and fall shortage when a long winter feeding period. Pastures top-dressed in late summer or early fall should make some regrowth to help extend the grazing period.

Orchardgrass to be used for spring hay will need a spring application of nitrogen followed by nitrogen in the fall.

It is essential that soil tests be made and lime, phosphorous and potash be applied when needed. Greater yields remove more of these nutrients. The use of nitrogen without needed phosphorous and potash can lead to nitrogen poisoning of livestock.

For cool season species of lawn grasses about 3 to 6 lbs. of actual nitrogen per acre per year is needed to maintain a healthy stand. From 1 to 1 1/2 lbs. of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet from now to Oct. 1, a like amount between Oct. 1 and Nov. 15 and a third similar application in December should meet most of the plant's nitrogen requirements. Needed lime, phosphorous and potash could be applied during any of these applications.

Orchardgrass or fescue pastures would need about 50 to 60 lbs. of nitrogen as soon as it can be applied.

Besides being better for the stand of grass and extending the grazing period, fall fertilization has other advantages. Soils are usually dryer and firmer in the fall than in the spring. Also fertilizer supplies are more available and orders can be filled sooner.

President's Action Will Help Farmers, Says Hardin

"American farmers stand to benefit from the actions announced by the President to combat inflation, to spur the competitiveness of the U.S. economy, and to improve our foreign trade and monetary position," Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said.

"Farmers will benefit by the actions taken to fight inflation. The cost-price squeeze is the number one problem facing American farmers. Therefore, we strongly welcome the actions taken.

"Secondly, the steps announced to spur investment in equipment and to reduce taxes are designed to bolster our own domestic economy and make jobs. These will provide stronger markets for our own producers.

"Finally, the action taken to impose a temporary surcharge on imports and the withdrawal of gold support from the dollar are comparable to what other countries have done in similar balance-of-payments situations. And, as anyone concerned with agriculture knows, the use of variable levies by some countries to protect agricultural systems constitutes permanent border protection which should be of far greater concern to the world than temporary surcharges.

"I hope that as our friends abroad digest this series on actions they will recognize that the President is saying that all of us need to find better solutions to our trade and international monetary problems. Obviously, American agriculture could make a much stronger contribution than it already has to our balance-of-payments problem if other countries of the world would admit more of our farm goods."

Correction

In a recent issue of the Times-Virginian, the names of almost all of the former "Miss Appomattox" and "Queen of Tobacconland" title winners from Appomattox were mentioned. One title winner was unintentionally omitted; the name of Carlene Joy Pitsenberger, now Mrs. Roy Joe Brodell. Carlene is an accomplished baton twirler and dancer, and added much to the life of the community while she was attending high school here. Now she is a senior at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., majoring in psychology, sociology and French. Her husband is a mechanical engineer with the Naval Weapons Laboratory in Dalgren, Va.
